The JRA was formed in Britain in 1980 with the aim of furthering the development of the rig in its various forms, and of creating an international community of people with an interest in the rig to share their experience and ideas for mutual benefit and enjoyment.

The Junk Rig Association embraces people with a diversity of interests, giving them the opportunity to extend their knowledge of the design, construction and performance of all types of cruising rigs based on battened sails and/or unstayed masts, and to exchange ideas and recount experiences of practical cruising.

Total novices to the delights of sailing, seasoned cruising folk, famous pioneers of rig design and lone circumnavigators can mix together through the pages of the bi-annual Journal that provides the core of the JRA's existence, or meet to try the real thing at one of the Rallies that take place twice a year.

The comprehensive membership list enables members to make contact with others in the same county, country or hemisphere, and a range of services such as Fact Sheets, book loan and Association insignia are available to members.

If you would like to join, please complete the form below and send it to me with the subscription and joining fee; you will receive the current year's journals, even if joining part of the way through the year.
